LETTER
FROM DE
COO

Dear Team Members,

Throughout its track record, ARAUCO's actions (from day-to-day operation to achievements) have been and will continue to be governed by the highest ethical principles, integrity and respect for the letter and spirit of the applicable laws.

ARAUCO's Code of Ethics is laid out in the following pages, including principles and values that should guide the decisions and actions of each person that works in the Company and its Directors of the Board.

All of us who work at ARAUCO have the obligation of complying with this Code of Ethics, not only to guarantee that the activities that we perform strictly abide with the laws of the countries in which we are active, but also to guarantee the application of the highest corporate social liability standards and principles.

I am convinced that the spirit and righteousness that we have always sought in our actions, and that we epitomize in our principles and guidelines, will allow us to continue maintaining and improving the reputation that we have diligently built throughout the years with our customers, suppliers, shareholders, investors, Team

Members as well as the communities and authorities with which we interact.

Thus, this Code is a great tool to help us continue to act with integrity, creating trust for all those who interact with our company.

We have many resources available to help you make adequate ethical decisions in connection to the specific tasks required by your position. This Code is only one of those resources, however, it is the basis for all the others.

We encourage you to convey your questions, concerns, and complaints. Such inquiries should be made to our leaders or directly to the Ethics and Compliance Committee through the Complaints Channel. In the best scenario, keeping silent strips us of the opportunity to learn, improve and grow together.

In consideration of the foregoing, I invite you to review our Code, to comply with its provisions and to act accordingly in each and every one of our activities.

Cristián Infante
COO

FUNDAMENTAL PRINCIPLES

SAFETY

At ARAUCO, it is our conviction that people are the Company's most important asset; therefore, their safety is our top priority.

Self-care is imperative. Safety is a challenge that must be assumed with responsibility and maturity by each of the Company's Team Members. Behaviors and attitudes must be in line with the specific realities of each division, and ideas and improvements must come from the Team Members themselves.

Safety is a collective challenge, that must be included in our way of thinking, deciding and acting as a team. If safety does not become part of our culture if we do not develop mutual care, everything we do will be insufficient and meaningless.

Work that is well done is simultaneously safe and productive. Safety cannot be a mere speech, nor can it be a concern that runs parallel to production challenges. Safety must be the utmost priority because it is the only way to be truly sustainable.

Considering the foregoing ARAUCO's Team Members must fully and promptly comply with each of the protocols and procedures established by the Company, starting with the Key Rules ⁽³⁾ and followed by the remaining provisions that are specific to each activity, keeping vigilant and reporting any situation that could possibly entail a risk to their safety or that of their coworkers.

RELATIONSHIP WITH THE ENVIRONMENT

ARAUCO and each of its Team Members are permanently, actively, and responsibly committed to the protection of the environment. When performing its activities, ARAUCO considers the environmental aspects of the areas in which it has a presence, through the implementation of the best industry practices, values, and commitments.

Moreover, ARAUCO's policies include the compliance with legal requirements, particularly with current environmental regulations, and the application of the standards established for situations in which no applicable laws or regulations exist.

Finally, the Company recognizes the challenges imposed by climate change and actively contributes to mitigate them. In this sense, each Team Member must carry out his or her activities in an effort to contribute to this objective, minimize his or her impact on the environment, and fully comply with current legislation in this regard.
